NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Graf Zeppelin Arrives and Starts Eastward on a Trip Around World.

BY EDWARD W. PICKARD G HAP REPPELIN, the great Gerthe week's news, its second crossing of the Atlantic, from Friedrichshafen to New York, was made without mishop, and after flying over the metropolls it came to the ground at Lakeburst, N. J., in a perfect night landing. Nineteen fore-paying passengers, one stownway and a miscellaneous enryo that included one chimpantee. one gorilla and 600 cauntles were brought over in comfort and safety. There days later the big nirship, haring loon refueled, started back to Germany on what is planned to be the test tex of a trip around the world. The only slops are to be at Friedrichs. hafen, Tokto, Los Angeles, and again Lakehurst. If the Zeppelin keeps to her behedule she will arrive at the New Jersey hangar on August 29. Twenty-two passengers were taken on the enathound trip. Thuse who intended to continue abourd for the globe circling journey included William B. Leeds, Lady Grace Denomined Hay. Carl Von Wiegand, Joaquin Blekard, Bir Hobert Wilkins, Liout, Jack Richurdson, Lleut, Commander C. D. Ros. endabl and C. B. Burgeas, the last three being eval by the Called States Navy department, Dr. Hogo Eckeper, as on the previous flight, is pilot of the dirigible, but it was reported that attor this world tour he would relinquish its command and devote himself to the management of the Zeppelin company, of which he is the business bend.

Hear Admiral William A. Monette chief of the naval liurean of aeroanother, white probling the nucressful trip of the Grat Zoppelin, calls attention to the fact that our navy is now hallding at Abron, this two dirigibles. that will be aloug twice the elge of the tierman alrabite Work on these vessels has been going on for some lime and the adulral says the first of them will be put foto use in 1831. Caragi tasses supersal to the Magne and on Tuesday opened a renference designed to liquidate the in fernational proliness less ever frees that Korio war. The chief matters to be settled were the adoption of the Young plan for German reparations, the cyncuation of the Rhineland, and the es inblishment of a committee of conciliation and control to supervise the demilliarized zone of Germany along the western frontler. Whether all or any of these things could be arranged amiently at this conference was a bit doubtful. This was especially true concerning the Young plan, which in certain of its features was distusteful to every one of the powers except pogalbly France and Italy.

Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the exchequer, opened the discussion by frankly stating that the British government could not accept the Young scheme for division of reparations because it reduces England's share from 22 per cent to 18 per cent. He said: "Great Britain objects to the proposed division by which France gets five-sixths of the unconditional annulties-$11,000,000 out of $157,050, 000. Italy gets a considerable annual sum, amounting to $10,000,000-much larger than under the Dawes plan. 1 hope for your forgiveness for my frank and firm speaking, but this division is utterly indefensible and the expects did not attempt to explain or justify it."

The smaller creditor powers, for which Premier Venizelos of Greece was the spokesman, also protested that their debts had been overlooked by the experts when they formulated the plan which "compresses" their reparations, but they said they bad no intention of numering the Young plan.

Representatives of France, Italy, Bef. gium and Japan defended the new plan as probably the best that could be devisial, although each of them asserted his country was making energies in accepting it. M. Cheron, French minister of finance, declared France accepted the plan in its entirety, with out reservations, and considered it indivisible on the experis stated. Notwithstanding these expressions on behalf of the other nations, Mr. Snowden and Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, told the reporters positively

Two countestons were named by litical consequences of adoption of the Young plan and the other to deal with the financial questions involved. These bodies may not get through their work for five or six weeks,

Dispatches from Rome said Italians generally were indignant at Snowden's speech, which they considered a churt. ish attack on the Latin pations and calculated to endanger the friendship between Italy and England, Berlin also disliked it, feeling that Snowden was trying to "squeeze still more out of the undertunate German lax layring and fearing that France, rather than quarrel with England, would compromise at Certisty's cost,

"HOLD your wheat as long as pos-slide in order to avoid increasing the congestion of the terminal murkets," Is in substance the message to wheat growers issued by the federal farm board. The board's statement said the crowding of the markets by unusually heavy slilpments has caused a slurp depression of cash prices, although there is every prospect of a crop shortage in the world supply, which naturally would make prices ligher in domestic and foreign

O l'R federal prisons must be made bigger and better, especially becance they are now so overcrowded with violators of the probibition and parcetic laws, in the opinion of President Hoover. Consequently he has given lis approval to a program of expansion of prison facilities that calls for the expenditure of $5,000,000 and includes the building of a new prison In the northeastern states. The penitent aries at Atlanta and Leavenworth will be considerably enlarged.

'MEET THE WIFE' AT LAKEWOOD NEXT WEEK

The Lakewood Players announce the rescutation next week of the widely known comedy, "Meet The Wife, which nellieved a distinct success in New York and in all the leading cities with Mary Boland as the star and Humphrey Bogart, popular Lakewood ian, in the supporting east.

"At the Wife" is something more than a comedy. The author and the producer have been too modest in classifying it. It was greeted in New York with salvos of praise from the leading dramatic critics who pointed out that it contained not only everything that is best in American comedy but that it sparkled with the pep and dash of the cleverest French farces.

When two husbands married to the same woman meet in common territory, what eventuates usually makes an interesting scene. No one can foresee just wint two men will do under the circumstances, nor what the wife will do when faced by a situation of this kind. This gives some clue as to the plot of "Meet The Wife" which is defily turned into a plot of merriment,

"Meet The Wife" will have the idvantages of an exceptional cast of players and should prove to be one of the highlights of the Lakewood sea-

Gen. J. G. Harbord Sees a Threat to Our Nation's Place in British Merger.

LEAD IN DANGER

AMERICA'S RADIO

The recent successful effort of the British to bring about consolidation of heir cable and radio interests is a serious challenge to the radio supremacy of the United States, and of more importance to our country than all or merchant marine at this moment, according to General J. OLD HOME DAY

The Old Home Day hold by the Community Club Saturday, Aug. 10th, was a decided success. The day was perfeet and automobiles began to arrive early in the morning bringing people been here since the last Old Romb Day the tractor which they had in there Pond where bathing was in order, two years ago. Most of the forencon for demonstration. It tipped over onto hour. Plenty of time for Jimmy in was spent in greetings and renewing him, breaking his arm and otherwise old acquintance.

At one o'clock the A. C.'s of West Paris played against a team from South Paris and North Paris in Charles Childs' field with a victory for West Paris, At 2.30 the grammar school boys of West now, Paris played against the boys of the grammar school here on the school

A fine program was given in the a week with Louise and-yes-Terry hall during the afternoon, consisting of music by Olga and Sylvia McKeen, address by Douald Partildge of South Paris, readings by Rev. Mr. Smith and Mrs. Morris Ellingwood, and remarks by several from away. Two letters were read, one from Rev. E. H. Stover, the other from the Dunbam family regretting not being able to be present

In the evening the drama, "Look What You've Done," with music and was given. Dinner was served at noon to about seventy and supper to those who remained for the evening. It cream, soft drinks and candy were on sale during the day and evening. E. eryone seemed to be having a huppy odu. time, and financially the Community Club did well.

> The four others were offered marters ushure for the night, but two of my loss remained in the boat as a precaution. It was well they did, too furing the night, untive swimmers went out to her and cut the anchor men would remain on board her, since schooner. she was only an open lifeboat, ter planned to search her. So he sent his swimmers out to pull her ashere and bench her. The wind was inshore The anchor rope cut, the boot drifted In. Our two men were asleep and only awakened when keel jarred ngalast bottom. Dark figures were pround in the water, trying to pull the bont on the bench. Our men, plater in hand, drave them away and then pushed out into open water.

We picked the one that seemed the a hand greande in their boat, or held newest and arranged with the skipper them up at pistol point when they to take us along with him to Suva, on the main Island Viti Levu. Of course, our plan was simply to sail a few miles out to sea with him and then take the ship ourselves after donning our uniforms and getting out all at our wenpons. A sudden squall blew up and forced the vessel back to port We returned with her. And now we should have taken her while she lay at anchor. The people ashore would have seen what was going on, but we could have bely up the Island and then put to sen, storm or no storm. That was our Arst Impulse. We should have followed it. Always trust your first impulse—at any rate, if you go into the pirate business. It is the holdest and best. Instead, we chose a more cautious course. We resolved to walt until the following day and capture our ship when it had got out to ea. While we waited another vessel arrived. She was a beauty, too, and would have delighted any scanma's eye as she came sailing taro the barbor. She had just arrived, we were told, from Suva. She ran regularly among the islands, carrying merchandise to the traders. She was a handsome threemasted schooner with auxiliary motor power, new, clean, and trim, just the kind of ship we wanted.

"By Joe," I said to my hoys, "there's our ship.

We immediately dismissed all idea of the old windjammer we had intended to capture, and devoted ourselves to this new beauty. A council of war was held, after which Kirchelss went to the captain of the vessel, which now had docked, and told him that we were Norweglans who, while making n cruise in a lifebont, and missed our ship; which was taking coal from dus tralla to Suva. Could we not take passage with him to Suva instead of on the other slower old craft, so that we could get back to our own ship? We would pry regular rates for the

"All right," replied the captain, a joyfal, unsuspecting fellow, "Come abourd at eight o'clock this evening We sall in the morning,"

Il was our blan again that, once aboard this lovely ship and out at sea we would suddenly appear in our uni forms and holst the German flag.

We made ready to abandon the life boat. Our belongings required careful packing. We put ritles, machine guns carridges, and greandes in our canvas bags, wrapped our naval uniforms mound these, and then rolled each bundle in a couple of bigribers and tled it securely. A casual handling would not reveal the armament inside. Each of us took a tilstol in one pocket and a band grounde in the other. At eight exches we went alward the schooner the nuneuvers had been made carefully, and we had attracted no undue notice of the people who were suspletous of us.

Alward, the captain received us has pitaldy, and we went around looking over what we expected to make our next prize of war. And a prize she Just it year out of the why road and beautifully finished in every de-
